

Babylon Teach-in

“Who’s interested in ...?”:

4 November 2015,
13:00-14:30, room D352

Who’s interested in ... C. Wright Mills?

C. Wright Mills is remembered for his bestselling sociological books such as The Power Elite, While Collar and Sociological Imagination, which in terms of longevity are rivaled by only a few. On November 4 we are discussing Mills from a biographical, political and intellectual perspective. We will explore how his turbulent life relates to his ideas of the sociologist as an intellectual craftsman, and how these in turn relate to his “radical utopian” political stance – that is, according to the standards of American social thought in the 1950s. The man and his work will be discussed by Paul Mutsaers.

All are welcome.