The Examination Board decides on a framework for assessing the above.

Article 1.4 Program form

The programs are offered in the following forms.

The Communication and Information Sciences Master's program is offered on a full-time basis; part-time enrollment is possible.

The Data Science and Society Master's program is offered on a full-time basis; part-time is possible.

The Philosophy Master's program is offered both on a full-time and on a part-time basis.

The Culture Studies Master's program is offered on a full-time basis; part-time enrollment is possible.

The full-time Master's programs take one year. The part-time Master's programs take two years.

Article 1.5 Final examinations of the program

The only final examination that can be taken in the programs is the final exam of a Master's program.

Article 1.6 Evaluation of education in the degree programs

Evaluation of the degree programs takes place periodically. Each unit of study will be evaluated at least once every four years in writing or digitally. Moreover, units of study will be evaluated if the last evaluation has given rise to examining one or more specific aspects; if the unit of study has been offered by one or more other lecturers; if the unit of study content and/or an examination has/have been substantially changed; at the request of the lecturer(s)/academic director/students. In the written/digital evaluation procedure a standardized evaluation form is used. In addition, sounding board groups and student panels are active in which verbal evaluation data is collected about individual units of study and curriculum components.

Section 2 Organization of the Program

Article 2.1 Study load

1. The study load of the program is 60 ECTS
2. The study load is expressed in whole ECTS.

Article 2.2 Indication of track on diploma and transcript of grades

To be able to claim the track on the diploma and the transcript of grades, students must meet the following conditions:

For the Master's program in Communication and Information Sciences

In the specialization tracks Business Communications and Digital Media, Communication and Cognition, New Media Design and Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence:

Students must obtain at least 4 units of study bearing the label of the relevant track (see PART 2) DEEL 2)

Please note (1): the track New Media Design has compulsory units of study and a limited number of elective units of study. Units of study bearing only the label of this track are not accessible to students of other specialization tracks.

Please note (2): Students who wish to obtain a track in Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence (CSAI) are recommended to take the units of study, including a CSAI thesis, which are referred to in PART 2 of the curriculum components of the Master's degree in Communication and Information Sciences for the recommended curriculum Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence (CSAI).

For the Master's program in Culture Studies

In the Majors Online Culture, Health Humanities, Children's and Young Adult literature and Management of Cultural Diversity:

Students must obtain all units of study belonging to the curriculum of the track (see PART 2).

For the Master's program in Philosophy

In the tracks Ethics of Business and Organizations, Philosophy of Contemporary Challenges, and Philosophy of Humanity and Culture:

Students must obtain all units of study belonging to the curriculum of the track (see PART 2).

Article 2.3 Composition of the programs

For all Master's programs:

The Master's programs and the tracks distinguished in each of these consist of the components and the corresponding study loads as specified in PART 2.

Component details are specified in the OSIRIS Catalog.

Each year, it is decided which units of study will be offered and assessed in Dutch, in English, or in another language. Students are to take the unit of study in the language in which it is offered and assessed in the year in question.

The requirements that are set for the thesis and the way in which supervision and assessment take place are laid down in the thesis regulations of the study program concerned.

Participation in the educational components may be subject to conditions relating to:

- a. previously obtained units of study: if there are specific entry requirements for the participation in a unit of study, they will be mentioned via OSIRIS Catalog;
- b. attendance for classes:
 - practicals: for practicals compulsory attendance applies;
 - seminars: if there are specific entry requirements for the participation in a course, they will be announced via OSIRIS Catalog;

- lectures: in principle lectures are not compulsory. However, there may be educational reasons (like work forms that require active participation*) for the lecturer to demand mandatory attendance during lectures. In these cases, compulsory attendance may be required at the lectures or parts thereof. The lecturer announces the compulsory attendance of the lecture or parts thereof before the start of the course via OSIRIS Catalog.

 Examples of such work forms are the use of voting boxes/digital voting systems, quizzes, giving presentations during the lecture, etcetera.*

For the Master's program in Communication and Information Sciences:

In drawing up the schedules of the Communication and Information Science Master's programs, care is taken to avoid scheduling units of study with the same labels or units of study that are linked in terms of content at the same time. However, considering the large number of units of study offered in each block or semester, the time slots of certain units of study will inevitably overlap with others. In these cases, students will have to make a choice between these overlapping units of study.

If students have been admitted to the English-taught curriculum of the Communication and Information Sciences Master's program (Free program or specialization) and are required—on top of that – to take the Statistics (3 ECTS) module as an extra unit of study, they must have completed this module before they can start on their Master's thesis.

The Master's program in Communication and Information Sciences offers scope for following one elective course (6 ECTS). An elective course may be completed with no more than one Master's course offered by a degree program accredited by the Dutch Ministry of Education, Culture and Science. For any other choice, prior permission must be obtained from the Examination Board. No prior permission is given for more than one elective course. The chosen elective course must be related to the final attainment levels of the program. The School is not responsible for actually being able to follow the chosen elective course at another School or institution. It is up to the student to check whether he/she can be admitted. If more courses have been taken elsewhere—after successful completion—a request can be submitted to the Examination Board to list those units of study as 'extra courses' on the transcript of grades.

For the Master's Program in Philosophy:

One of the components of the Philosophy Master's program is the Scriptietraject (Master's Thesis Track) module.

For the Master's Program in Culture Studies:

In the tracks of Management of Cultural Diversity in the Culture Studies Master's program, room is reserved for an elective part. If students wish to follow this elective part at a foreign university, for instance by realizing their Master's thesis project there, the university in question must meet the NUFFIC quality criteria. In addition, the elective component in question must support to the program's field. The elective course should be related to the Master's thesis. To incorporate the elective part into their program, students need the approval of the Examination Board.

Article 2.4 Practicals

In addition to lectures and seminars, the following courses of the Master's programs as referred to in Article 2.2 and specified in PART 2, also include classes in the form of practicals.

For the Master's program in Communication and Information Sciences:

Research Skills

Voor de Masteropleiding Data Science and Society:

If in one and the same academic year students score more than two results for a particular unit of study, the third and following efforts are declared invalid.

2. Without prejudice to the provisions in subsection 1, students are offered at least one opportunity to take the exam for units of study that were not taught in a specific academic year.

6. Students with a dual career can apply for a Talent Status, which entitles them, for instance, to extra facilities with respect to the organization of their program and/or financial support. As far as it is within its power to do so, the School seeks to accommodate these students through special arrangements. The criteria for obtaining a Talent Status can be found in the Dual Career Regulations, which can be found as an appendix to the Student Charter. Students who have been awarded a Talent Status and who wish to make use of the above-mentioned facilities need to make an appointment with their academic counselor to draw up a study plan at the start of the academic year or as soon as the Executive Board has granted the Talent Status.

3. Students with disabilities can be given the opportunity by the Examination Board to take examinations in a way that is adapted as much as possible to their individual limitations. If necessary, the Examination Board will seek expert advice before taking a decision. If taking exams in an adapted form should require certain specific facilities to be made available or require that the exam be administered in a particular way, the students in question are to file a request to this effect at the Digital Registration Desk for Disabilities (Digitaal Meldpunt Functiebeperking).

Article 3.3 Oral Exams

1. In oral exams, not more than one person is assessed at the same time, unless the Examination Board has decided otherwise.

3. The examiner sees to it that an audio recording is made of any oral exam so that the questions asked, the answers given, and the lecturer's conclusions are recorded. The audio recording remains available during the period set for appeals as formulated in Article 3.4, subsection 5, or for the duration of an actual appeals procedure.

Article 3.4 Determination and publication of exam results

1. The examiner determines the results of written exams of a component (course) within 15 workdays after the exam has been taken unless the academic director decides on the basis of the academic year calendar or any other regulations that exam results should be determined within 10 workdays.
2. In the case of oral exams, , in principle, the examiner determines the result immediately after the oral exam has taken place, or at least within 5 workdays after the oral exam has taken place, and provides the student with a written statement specifying the result.

As of September 1, 2011, EEA students who have been admitted to a pre-Master's program at the School of Humanities and Digital Sciences at Tilburg University will be enrolled in the Bachelor's phase. Non-EEA students who have been admitted to a pre-Master's program will also be enrolled in the Bachelor's phase as of September 1, 2013. The Education and Examination Regulations of the Bachelor's programs of the School of Humanities and Digital Sciences 2019-2020 contain the regulations that apply to students who have been admitted to a pre-Master's program as of 2019-2020.

Transitional provisions Tilburg School of Humanities and Digital Sciences as of 2014-2015

Transitional provision for all Master's programs:

Article 3.1 paragraph 1 states: "If a course unit is offered more than once per academic year and/or if more than two examinations are organized for an examination unit, the student may participate in a maximum of two of these opportunities per academic year. If a student obtains more than two results for a part of an examination in one academic year, the third and any subsequent result obtained will be declared invalid."

This provision also applies if a part of an examination is offered in one and the same academic year, plus the part of an examination that applies as a transitional provision for that part.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION: Graduating in two specializations within Master's programs

On the basis of jurisprudence of the Examination Board, regulations have been drawn up for students opting for a Master's degree in two specializations within the Communication and Information Sciences Master's program, the Culture Studies Master's program or the Philosophy Master's program.

N.B.: Graduating in the specialization Data Science: Business and Governance (DSBG) within the Master's program in Communication and Information Sciences does not, under any circumstances, lead to a degree in the Master's program Data Science and Society.

Graduating in two specializations within the Communication and Information Sciences Master's program

[1] Graduating in two of the specializations Business Communication and Digital media (BDM), Communication Design (CD), Data Journalism (DJ), Human Aspects of Information Technology (HAIT), Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence (CSAI)

- a. Students are to complete all components/courses of the Master's program plus an extra Master's thesis plus four extra courses to the value of 24 ECTS, a condition being that for each specialization at least four courses have the label of that specialization. This may include courses that have more than one label. The total study load is $60 + 18 + 24 = 102$ ECTS.
- b. All components of one of both specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate. The extra components will be specified on the list of extra components.
It is up to the student to choose which of the specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate and which of the specializations will be specified on the list of extra components.
- c. The 'judicium' is computed on the basis of the components specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate; components specified on the list of extra components are ignored.

[2] Graduating in Data Science: Business and Governance (DSBG) or New Media Design (NMD) and in one of the specializations Business Communication and Digital media (BDM), Communication Design (CD), Data Journalism (DJ), Human Aspects of Information Technology (HAIT), Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence (CSAI)

- a. Students are to complete all components/courses of the specialization DSBG or NMD plus an extra Master's thesis plus four extra courses to the value of 24 ECTS, conditions being that the four extra courses have the label of the specialization BDM, CD, DJ, HAIT or CSAI, and that DSBG or NMD courses which also have the label of the second specialization (or more than one label) can only be included once. The total study load is $60 + 18 + 24 = 102$ ECTS.
- b. All components of one of both specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate. The extra components will be specified on the list of extra components.

It is up to the student to choose which of the specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate and which of the specializations will be specified on the list of extra components.

- c. The 'judicium' is computed on the basis of the components specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate; components specified on the list of extra components are ignored.

Graduating in two specializations within the Philosophy Master's program

- a. Students are obliged to complete all required components (courses ad 24 ECTS and thesis ad 12 ECTS), all components belonging to one specialization (24 ECTS) plus all components belonging to the other specialization (24 ECTS) plus an extra 6 ECTS for the Master's thesis. In total, the study load is $60 + 24 + 6 = 90$ ECTS.

- b. All components of one of both specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate. The extra components (incl. the extra 6 ECTS for the Master's thesis) will be specified on the list of extra components.

It is up to the student to choose which of the specializations will be specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate and which of the specializations will be specified on the list of extra components.

- c. The 'judicium' is computed on the basis of the components specified on the list of grades belonging to the certificate; components specified on the list of extra components are ignored.
